After 8 green days in a row, the market just needed a little negativity to trigger a healthy pullback. Not surprisingly, Powell failed to disappoint as he dampened his dovish FOMC speech with the following comment "the Fed not confident" it has done enough to curb inflation.

Overall today's pullback is healthy. A few days of pullback works off oversold conditions. The game plan for now is caution, taking a wait and see approach at support levels.

Key industries that most setups are emerging from include software, financials, tech, semis, leisure and housing.

Key setups include earnings breakouts, rubber band breakouts in beaten down stocks and trend continuations.

Stocks on watch include SPOT, PINS, PYPL, MCK, BUD, BLD, YELP, AFRM, SKYW, ROKU, PLTR, DASH, CELH, VRT, EXPE, SIX, SQ, SBUX, INFA, MELI.

Keep an eye on DIS earnings breakout.

BULLS SWING REPORT

Treasury Yield

The 10 year treasury yield is PULLING BACK post fed. This is what the market wants to see. I am very interest in seeing how the ETF reacts to the 43.70 support range.
